RE Sustainable Development Goals in Work Programme of Oireachtas Committee on Foreign Affairs and Defence

Dear Deputy Flanagan,

We write to you on behalf of the 75 civil society organisations and networks that make up Coalition 2030. These organisations come from the international development, environment, social inclusion/anti-poverty, trade union and academic sectors. We are committed to upholding Ireland's commitment to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) at home in Ireland and in over 50 countries by 2030¹.

The Coalition is writing to the Committee regarding the motion approved in the Dáil on the 30th of July 2020. This motion sets out that each select Committee must address 'progress on the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals set out in the United Nations 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development' as part of its work programme.

We are contacting you to highlight that the Committee must incorporate delivery of the Sustainable Development Goals in its new work programme. In order to give effect to the motion the Committee should in particular:

- Address SDG implementation, not merely as a one-off meeting topic, but as a core ongoing benchmark of policy planning and delivery
- Ensure that associated sub-targets and indicators are used to monitor policy planning and implementation as part of the Committee's deliberations and meetings.
- Ensure Ministers, Departments and public bodies provide information on progress on relevant SDG targets, and plans to meet targets, when presenting to the Oireachtas Committees.
- Address actions being taken by their line Departments to support SDG implementation as part of the development of a new National SDG Implementation Plan.
- Ensure civil society groups and vulnerable communities, particularly those most at risk, are invited to provide their views on Ireland's response/progress.
- Provide information on SDG implementation in the Committee's annual reports and/or letters to Departments.
- When considering a just recovery and economic stimulus in response to the Covid-19 pandemic address SDG implementation as a means of increasing state, regional and local resilience.
- Examine whether existing indicators are adequate to monitor SDG progress and whether official data collected on Ireland's SDG performance sufficiently tracks major cross-cutting challenges, such as actions to eradicate poverty and curb inequalities.
- Make use of relevant evidence and resources on SDG implementation, Ireland's progress and a just recovery from Covid, e.g. the Central Statistics Office SDG Dashboard, reporting and analysis by UN Agencies, the Global SDG Index, OECD research, as well as reports by NESC, Social Justice Ireland, Coalition 2030 and the European Environmental Bureau.

The Oireachtas Committees on Foreign Affairs and Defence has an important role to play in ensuring effective governance and accountability related to SDG targets and indicators. These Goals must also be met in an inclusive way and leaving no one behind by ensuring the most vulnerable and marginalised and by prioritising early and transparent consultation before decisions are made. The Committee on Foreign Affairs has responsibility on three levels:

- a. for Ireland to deliver on Goal 17, in particular sub-target 17.2 on Overseas Development Assistance;
- b. for Ireland to support the delivery of the Goals internationally, including in Ireland's leadership position on the UN Security Council, and especially with regards to Goals 1 (End Poverty), 2 (Zero Hunger), 5 (Gender Equality), 16 (Peaceful Societies);
- c. to ensure policy coherence between Ireland's domestic and foreign policies, in particular regarding Goal 13 on Climate Action, and the areas of tax justice and business and human rights (Goals 16 and Goals 17).

The importance of policy coherence for international development (which is an obligation under the Lisbon Treaty) was addressed in the recent OECD DAC Peer Review of Irish Aid. The OECD DAC found that Ireland's domestic action (and inaction) on climate change has negative impacts in developing countries, and its first recommendation is that Ireland should “develop mechanisms for analysing the impact of its domestic policies on developing countries, identify potential inconsistencies, discuss action to address these with all stakeholders, and ensure that progress is monitored.” The Oireachtas Committee should seek to progress this recommendation as part of its review of the SDGs - i.e. act as one such mechanism for ensuring that analysis of impacts of domestic policies on developing countries is carried out.

It should be noted that the unprecedented health, economic and social crisis impacts of Covid-19 are now threatening lives and livelihoods and making the achievement of SDGs even more challenging. While the Covid crisis has seriously jeopardised progress on the SDGs, it also makes their achievement all the more urgent and necessary. It is imperative that Ireland pursues a just and transformative recovery from Covid-19 which prioritises the cross-cutting SDG targets, and its associated monitoring framework, as the roadmap to increase resilience for the most vulnerable communities and workers across our society.

Notwithstanding Ireland's leadership role in reaching international agreement on the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in 2015, Government action to date has not advanced anywhere near the speed or scale required. There exist fundamental weaknesses in Ireland's National SDG Implementation Plan which is currently led by the Department of Communications, Climate Action and the Environment. Consultation and engagement with civil society through the Department's Stakeholder Forum has also been lacking. We are now concerned by recent internal restructuring within the Department which has left the SDG without a dedicated policy unit. We consider that the Department of the Taoiseach should be responsible for leading and coordinating Ireland's SDG response.

However, the Programme for Government includes positive commitments rooted in SDG delivery, including initiatives regarding community development, local authority planning, research and education, sustainable agriculture, climate action, international development and the EU Green Deal. There also exists an opportunity to overcome long-standing weaknesses as part of the upcoming development of a new National Implementation Plan and for all Departments to take immediate steps to integrate SDG targets in policy-planning and delivery as part of their Statements of Strategy. We consider that a fundamental part of these SDG-related processes must be effective monitoring and oversight of SDG implementation and policy coherence by Oireachtas Committees.

The Oireachtas Committees on Foreign Affairs and Defence has a major opportunity to help to drive progress on Ireland's road to fulfilment of the UN Sustainable Development Goals. Coalition 2030 members are eager to support and advise Committee members with this process and we would be grateful if you could bring this letter to the attention of Committee members.

Yours sincerely,

*The Steering Committee of Coalition 2030
